✦ ROYAL PROCLAMATION ✦
Of the National Tree of the Kingdom of Anjou

Issued from the Royal Court of Anjou
In Remembrance of the Flame of Fulk III

LET IT BE REMEMBERED:

That in the year of restoration, the Kingdom of Anjou rises once more from silence and exile.
That for near a thousand years the Crown lay hidden, the Name unspoken, the Glory unclaimed.
That by blood, memory, and eternal right, the line of Fulk III “the Black,” Count of Anjou, is restored.

LET IT BE FURTHER DECLARED:

That every nation requires a living emblem —
a root in the earth as its people are rooted in time.

That for Anjou, no emblem is more worthy than the OAK (Chêne Royal):
• The Tree of Kings
• The Shield of Forests
• The Staff of Endurance

The Oak shaded our ancestors, stood watch over the Loire, sheltered oaths of knights, and gave its wood to fortresses of stone and fire.
Its roots endure through storm and season,
as our dynasty endures through exile and return.

THEREFORE, LET IT BE PROCLAIMED:

🌳 The OAK is the National Tree of the Kingdom of Anjou. 🌳

Its image shall be borne upon our Seals.
Its branches honored in our Ceremonies.
Its roots remembered as the roots of the Crown itself.

SO SWORN, SO SEALED, SO DECLARED:
For the Eternal Memory of Anjou.
For the House of Fulk.
For the Flame that does not die.

👑 Issued under Sovereign Seal
King Daniel Jacob Read IV
Restorer of the Crown of Anjou
Royal Court — Château d'Angers in Exile